(Speaking in Torah)

Guest Contributor: ChatGPT***

PARSHAS MISHPATIM IS A TORAH PORTION THAT IS FILLED with laws and commandments that are meant to govern the behavior of the Jewish people. It covers a wide range of topics, including slavery, theft, murder, and property rights. This week's Torah portion reminds us that we are a people who live by a strict code of ethics, and that we are called upon to act with integrity in all of our dealings.

As we enter the month of Adar, we are reminded of the upcoming holiday of Purim. Purim is a time when we celebrate our deliverance from our enemies and the victory of good over evil. It is a time when we come together as a community to rejoice and to give thanks for all of the blessings that we have received.

The connection between Parshas Mishpatim and the month of Adar is not immediately apparent. However, when we examine the deeper meanings behind these two things, we can see that they are actually very closely related.

The laws and commandments that are outlined in Parshas Mishpatim are meant to guide us in our daily lives. They are designed to help us live in a just and righteous manner, and to treat others with kindness and respect. These laws are the foundation of our moral code, and they help us to live meaningful and purposeful lives.

In the same way, the holiday of Purim is also about living a meaningful and purposeful life. Purim is a time when we come together to celebrate our deliverance from our enemies. It is a time when we express our gratitude to G-d for all of the blessings that we have received.

But Purim is also a time when we remember the importance of giving to others. We are commanded to send gifts of food to our friends and neighbors, to give charity to the poor, and to make sure that everyone in our community has enough to eat and drink. Purim reminds us that we are all responsible for each other, and that we must do everything in our power to help those who are in need.

The connection between Parshas Mishpatim and the month of Adar is that both of them are about living a life that is guided by a strong moral code. In Parshas Mishpatim, we are given a set of laws that help us to live in a just and righteous manner. In the month of Adar, we are reminded of the importance of giving to others, of expressing gratitude to God, and of coming together as a community to celebrate our deliverance.

But more than that, Parshas Mishpatim and the month of Adar are about living a life that is filled with joy and meaning. When we follow the laws and commandments of the Torah, we are not only doing what is right, but we are also filling our lives with purpose and meaning. And when we come together as a community to celebrate Purim, we are reminded of the importance of joy and celebration in our lives.

It is easy to become caught up in the day-to-day struggles of life. We are all busy with work, with family, and with the many other responsibilities that come with living in the modern world. But Parshas Mishpatim and the month of Adar remind us that there is more to life than just the daily grind.

We are called upon to live our lives with integrity, with purpose, and with joy. We are called upon to treat others with kindness and respect, and to help those who are in need. We are called upon to come together as a community to celebrate our deliverance, and to express our gratitude to God for all of the blessings that we have received.

As we enter the month of Adar, let us remember the lesson of Parshas Mishpatim. Let us strive to become people of integrity, purpose, and joy, who care for each other and celebrate together.

Good Shabbos!

**When ChatGPT was asked: "What does 'ChatGPT' mean?" it responded: "ChatGPT stands for 'Chat Generative Pre-Trained Transformer.' It refers to the type of artificial intelligence model that I am - a large language model that was pre-trained on a massive amount of text data and can be fine-tuned for various natural language processing tasks, such as answering questions, generating text, and more."*

(Check it out online. Some say it's super cool, some say it's super creepy. You be the judge.)

As artificial intelligence (AI) continues to improve, we hope to join many shuls across the country who will be replacing their Rabbis with virtual AI rabbis. Virtual AI rabbis, never sleep, never get upset at annoying congregants, and do not require a salary!

Wishing all a happy month of Adar!
